Choosing the Better Part

"Don't just stand there gawping," we're told as children, ".... do something!" we have grown up knowing that we all must pull our weight, and so when the overworked Martha complains to Jesus that her sister Mary has not helped with the meal, we get understandably hot under the collar when Jesus condones Mary's choice to sit at his feet in conversation. There is of course a big danger in the story of Martha and Mary. The danger is that we feel the need to side with one sister, thereby judging the other wrong. In truth, both sisters have something to teach us.

Martha we are told, was concerned with many things, but we're led to believe that all of them were finite and transitory. If we took time to make a list of the concerns in our own lives we might find that we have a lot of Martha in us. We worry about work, we worry about money and we worry about how we are going to fit our chores in. If we look back at our anxieties of last year, or last month, or even last week, we might be forced to admit that most of those worries had no lasting significance, yet they still managed to dominate our lives and rob us of what was important. Mary on the other hand was only concerned with one thing, ... the Kingdom of God ... finite, ultimate and lasting.

It is important to note that Jesus was not reproaching Martha, after all without Martha there would have been no meal on the table that night. Without the Marthas of the world nothing would get done. On the other hand, it doesn't matter how hard we work, without God at the centre of our lives, our actions are hollow. Mary chose 'the better part', but we all need a little of Martha too.

St. Mary Magdalene

Tuesday 22nd July

Mary Magdalene stood by the Cross of Jesus, with two other women she discovered the empty tomb; she was granted an appearance of the Risen Lord early the same day from which incident she has been described as 'the apostle to the apostles'. The Gospels give no warrant for identifying her with the 'woman who was a sinner' who anointed Christ feet (Luke 7:37) or with Mary the sister of Martha who also anointed him (John 12:3).

Sts. Joachim and Ann "Celebrating Grandparents" 26th July

Whether or not Joachim and Ann are the real names of Mary's parents, this date is a good opportunity to celebrate grandparents everywhere. It reminds grandparents of their responsibility to establish a tone for generations to come and it reminds the younger generation that older people's greater perspective, depth of experience and appreciation of life's profound rhythms are all part of a wisdom not to be taken lightly or ignored.

At the Feet of Jesus

Have you ever been trying to talk to a friend who was right in front of you, but that friend was too busy looking at their phone to pay attention to you? How did it make you feel when someone else was too distracted to listen to you?

It can be disappointing and frustrating when that happens. But let's be honest...Have any of you been so distracted that you forgot to pay attention to a friend? Or that you lost sight of what was happening right in front of you? I know I have!

Being distracted isn't anything new and phones aren't the only reasons we get distracted. When Jesus walked the Earth, people didn't have mobile phones like we do. But that didn't keep people from becoming distracted. The gospel today tells a story about a woman who became distracted - even when Jesus was a guest in her home!

Jesus was in the village of Bethany where His friends Mary, Martha and Lazarus lived. Jesus went to their home to visit. Martha invited Him in and began to prepare dinner. While she was busy working away, her sister Mary just sat at the feet of Jesus and listened to the words He had to say. The Gospel says Martha was too distracted by all the preparation that had to be done to listen to Jesus. She got upset with her sister and went to Jesus and said, "Lord, don't you care that my sister has left me to do the work by myself? Tell her to help me!"

"Martha, Martha," Jesus said, "you are worried and upset about many things. But there is one thing that is the most important and Mary has discovered it." Martha was doing her best to make Jesus feel welcome in her home, but Mary had discovered something even more important. That was sitting at the feet of Jesus and receiving His words into her heart. It is important for us to be careful that we don't get so busy doing activities - even good ones - that we forget to listen to Jesus' words and take them into our heart. If we become too distracted, we just might miss the most important thing.

Dear Jesus,

help us to remember that You are the most important thing in our lives. Don't let us get so busy with other things that we forget to spend time with You. Amen.

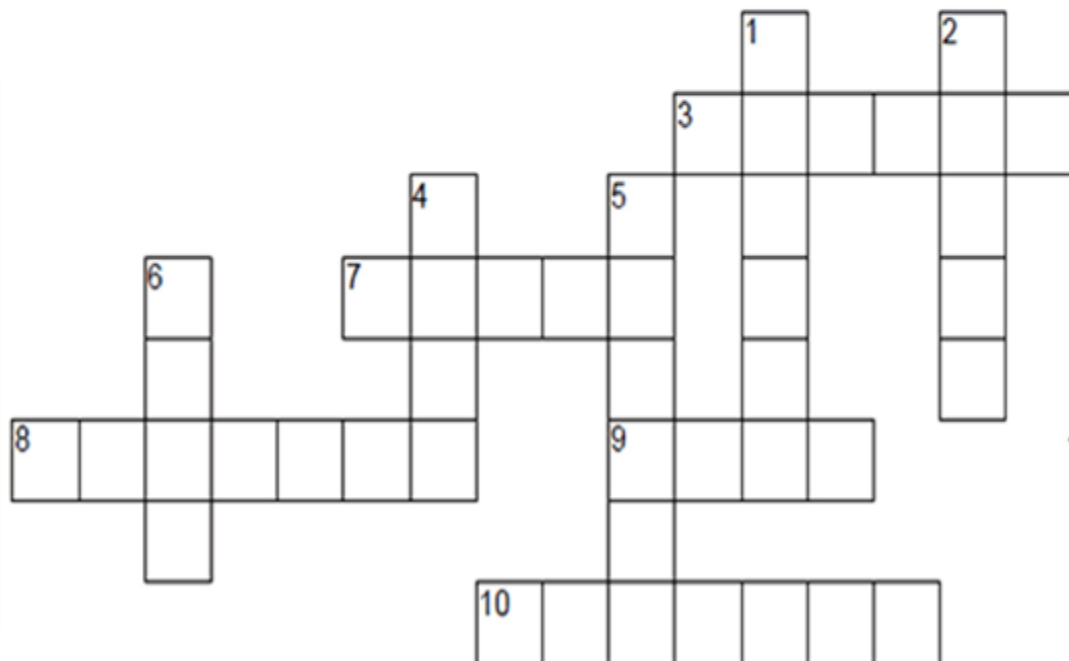

At the Feet of Jesus

"Martha, Martha," the Lord answered, "you are worried and upset about many things, but few things are needed - or indeed only one. Mary has chosen what is better, and it will not be taken away from her."

Puzzle is based on Luke 10:38-42

Time to Think...

Saint Camillus de Lellis

Our health is our wealth. Health of body and peace of mind are indeed rich blessings that many long for. Western culture continues to value life on how the human person can contribute to society or economy. This is in stark contrast to the gospel vision, that life is both gift and sacred, that humanity, is created in the image and likeness of God. In a culture that tries to dehumanize the human person I continue to be inspired by people like St. Camillus who personifies the Gospel.

Saint Augustine once said, "Every saint has a past, every Sinner has a future". Often it is through our wounds where we discover empathy, wholeness and a desire to serve God. Humanly speaking, Camillus was not a likely candidate for sainthood. His mother died when he was a child, his father neglected him, and he grew up with an excessive love for gambling. At 17, he was afflicted with a disease of his leg that remained with him for life. In Rome he entered the San Giacomo Hospital for Incurables as both patient and servant, but was dismissed for quarrelsomeness after nine months. He served in the Venetian army for three years.

Then in the winter of 1574, when he was 24, Camillus gambled away everything he had—savings, weapons, literally down to his shirt. He accepted work at the Capuchin friary at Manfredonia, and was one day so moved by a sermon of the superior that he began a conversion that changed his life. He entered the Capuchin novitiate, but was dismissed because of the apparently incurable sore on his leg. After another stint of service at San Giacomo, he came back to the Capuchins, only to be dismissed again, for the same reason.

Again, back at San Giacomo, his dedication was rewarded by his being made superintendent. Camillus devoted the rest of his life to the care of the sick. Along with Saint John of God he has been named patron of hospitals, nurses, and the sick. With the advice of his friend Saint Philip Neri, he studied for the priesthood and was ordained at the age of 34. Contrary to the advice of his friend, Camillus left San Giacomo and founded a congregation of his own. As superior, he devoted much of his own time to the care of the sick. In 1586 the 'company of good men' obtained the approval of Pope Sixtus V and in 1591 Pope Gregory XIV gave them the status of an Order with the name of 'Order of the Ministers of the Sick', a name chosen by the Founder to indicate that its members had to have Christ as their model: 'I did not come to be served but to serve and give life'. Today the Ministers of the Sick are known throughout the world as the Camillians. The Order is made up of priests and brothers who as religious enjoy equal rights and have the same obligations.

The Order, as its Constitution observed, dedicated itself 'before anything else to the practice of works of mercy towards the sick' and ensured that 'man is placed at the centre of attention of the world of health'. The members of the Order professed the vows of chastity, poverty and obedience and consecrated their lives 'to service to the sick poor, including the plague-ridden, in their corporeal and spiritual needs, even at risk to their own life, having to do this out of sincere love for God'. 'Our Institute...has, as its purpose, the complete service of the sick in the totality of their being' and is 'prepared to undertake every type of service in the health care world for the building up of the Kingdom and the advancement of humanity. Faithful to this undertaking, hundreds of Camillians died serving people who had the plague.

Charity was the first concern Camillus and his religious order, but the physical aspects of the hospital also received his diligent attention. Camillus insisted on cleanliness and the technical competence of those who served the sick. The members of his community bound themselves to serve prisoners and persons infected by the plague as well as those dying in private homes. Some of his men were with troops fighting in Hungary and Croatia in 1595, forming the first recorded military field ambulance. In Naples, he and his men went onto the galleys that had plague and were not allowed to land. He discovered that there were people being buried alive, and ordered his brothers to continue the prayers for the dying 15 minutes after apparent death.

Camillus himself suffered the disease of his leg through his life. In his last illness, he left his own bed to see if other patients in the hospital needed help. The legacy of Saint Camillus continues to be felt throughout the world in the missionary order he established. In many hospitals including Ireland chaplains follow the way of life inspired by Saint Camillus. Their ministry especially to HIV victims and in more recent times during the COVID pandemic, allowed the most vulnerable to be cared and loved in the name of God's mercy.

Prayer to St. Camillus

St. Camillus, the Lord has filled your heart with firm love for God and a self-sacrificing love of neighbour. In fact, it was above all for the love of God that you spent your life in love and service of the poor, the sick and the dying. In our life, we know that love of God and love of neighbour are the principal commandments and yet often we live our life in selfishness. We ask you, St. Camillus, to intercede for us to the same God you love.

Let our hearts be filled with that love that comes from God; and let our concern be always for God's love and for service to our neighbours. Now we would like to pray for the following persons... Through your intercession may their needs be granted. We also pray for all the sick and the needy, through Christ, our Lord.

Amen.

Church, this Saturday 19th July at 6.30pm.

God looked around His garden and found an empty place, He then looked down upon the earth and saw your tired face.

He put His arms around you, and lifted you to rest,
God's garden must be beautiful, He always takes the best.

He knew that you were suffering, He knew you were in pain,
He knew that you would never, get well on earth again.

He saw the road was getting rough, and the hills were hard to climb,
So He closed your weary eyelids, and whispered, 'Peace be thine'.

It broke our hearts to lose you, but you didn't go alone,
For part of us went with you, the day God called you home.

 Take comfort as you go,
 In a lifetime of "sweet memories",
